Liver Cake Recipe

One of my dog's favourite treats is liver cake, I use this quite a lot for training and it is quite different than anything else your dog might eat, so it tends to be a prized treat. It is relatively cheap to make and you can freeze it, plus it is much healthier than the ready prepared treats which tend to be full of additives and have no smell.

Ingredients :

1 bulb of garlic (whole bulb, not glove)
1 lb liver (any variety)
3 eggs
1 lb wholemeal flour

Method

Put in processor:

1 bulb of garlic (whole bulb, not glove)
1 lb liver (in small pieces)
3 eggs
Mix for a few minutes.

Add 1 lb of flour, mixing all the time.

Pour mixture into a baking tray, lined with foil. Spread mixture evenly over foil (approx. half inch thick).

Cook in a preheated oven 140-150 °C (Gas mark 1-2) for 45 minutes.

Test with fork, if fork comes out clean, remove otherwise cook for another 15 minutes.

When slightly cool, cut into squares with a long bread knife.

Freeze in plastic bags, once defrosted do not re-freeze.
